BROOKLYN YACHTSMEN DINE

WITH COMMODORE COLER STEER-ING THE INEVITABLE SPEECHES.

announces That the B. Y. C. Will Have a Boat in the Race for the Lipton Cup for 15 Footers-Club's 49th Anniversary celebrated-O'Keeffe Warbles Again.

The members of the Brooklyn Yacht club met last night for their forty-ninth annual dinner at the Pouch Gallery, Clinton avenue, Brooklyn. Some 200 of the members of the club and many guests were present. Commodore Bird S. Coler and other speakers let it be inferred that the club was some pumpkins in yachting here-

American flags and the burgee of the club decorated the room in which the dinner was served and yachting was the chief opic of conversation until Commodore oler got the speaking started. Among hose who attended the dinner were former Mayors D. D. Whitney and David A. Boody, District Attorney John F. Clarke, Deputy Police Commissioner Arthur J. O'Keeffe, Commodore Daly of the Jamaica Bay Yacht Club, Col. David E. Austen, L. J. Callanan, John R. Brophy of the Atlantic Yacht Club. Thomas Fleming Day, the father of ocean yacht racing; Warren Sheppard, Thomas Fleming, V. Hugo Koehler, John L. Roehser, Joseph Falk, A. B. Mann and C. W. Voltz of the New Rochelle Yacht Club. Capt. Commodore Coler began by telling of his plans for the season. His schooner Rusalka will be put in commission and fitted out in the best possible way and be entered for the race to Bermuda. Col. Austen will have charge of the boat and every effort will be made to capture the trophy for the race.

Mr. Coler said also that his attention had been called to the prize offered by Sir.

Mr. Coler said also that his attention had been called to the prize offered by Sir Thomas Lipton for racing in the 15 foot class on Gravesend Bay, and as Sir Thomas had been very kind to the Brooklyn Yacht Club he thought that it was only fair that the Brooklyn club should try to win the trophy. The cup has been given by Sir Thomas to the Crescent Athletic Club and all the clubs on Gravesend Bay are to be represented in the races. The Brooklyn club, he said, would have a boat. This announcement was received with cheers by the members.

Mr Coler then referred to the fact that the club was celebrating its forty-ninth anniversary and he hoped that in time the Atlantic and Bensonhurst clubs that had started from the Brooklyn Yacht Club would again come back to the fold and the Brookyn club be the club of the lower bay. He said that it was probable that in the near future the club would own a site on Graves-end Bay and that when the club celebrated its fiftieth anniversary a building owned by the club would be nearly ready for

to Be Renewed.

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 .- The eligibility rules which have governed contests during the last four years between the United States Naval and Military academies have now ex-pired by limitation and there seems to be no doubt that the athletic authorities of both institutions are perfectly willing for them to drop. The annual meetings of the athletic association representatives of both institu-tions have been held and nothing was done by either looking to a renewal of the agree-ment. The rules have had little or no actual effect and the victory of the Navy at the end of the season just closed has given indication that hereafter the teams are to meet on so equal a basis that there will be no need of eligibility rules.

The occasion, if not the cause, of the Navy's nsistence and final procuring of an agreement with the Army covering the eligibility of players in contests between the institutions was the presence of Charlie Daly, the old Harvard captain, on the Army team during the seasons of 1901 and 1902. Not only was Daly's work of such a high order that the Navy team appeared hopeless of victory but it was feared that the greater age of admission for the West Point cadets would be the means of bringing more and more seasoned athletes to the institution and make the annual game a settled victory for the Army athletes to the institution and make the annual game a settled victory for the Army every season.

After much debate the Army agreed to the rules in a form alightly changed from that proposed by the Navy. Under the agreement players could play but four years, counting time while playing on the Army or Navy team or any of forty representative college teams which were pamed in an agreed list. The effect of this agreement has been slight. Daly voluntarily left the gridiron field the following year, and Graves, who captained theteam during the rest of the season, watched from the sidelines his fear, overwhelm the midshipmen in the contest of 1903. No other players have been kept out of the game on account of the eligibility rules during the ceasons that fellowed.

The Navy's captain of next year, Douglass, has played on the Navy team for three seasons, and also played on the University of Tennessee for several seasons before coming to Annapolis. However, that institution is not in the list of forty the playing upon which counts, so that Douglass would have another year to play even if the eligibility rules were renewed. The Navy would, however, lose Piersol, the stalwart tackle, should the agreement be renewed upon the old terms. He made the team the first year he entered the academy and has played four seasons, as he spent two years in the lowest class.

The theory of the agreement was that the Army boys were more mature and that therefore the contest was not on a fair basis. The age for entrance at West Point is from 17 to 22 years and at Annapolis from 18 to 10 years. It is therefore clear that the Army had much the advantage in getting seasoned men and stood a far greater chance of getting men who had already acquired skill in football or other sport at some other institution. At that time the number of students in the institutions was about the same, but now, as Annapolis has just about the same, but now, as Annapolis has intenabled to the cadets is about even, it is thought, by the larger choice possible at A

SYRACUSE FEARS FOR CREW. Ten Eyek Not So Confident of Boat's Chances as He Was Last Year.

Twenty-five varsity crew candidates and thirty-seven freshmen who are trying for positions in the freshman boat have survived the first cut in crew candidates at Syracuse niversity. The men bave been working on the rowing machines in the gymnasium since the first of the month. The outlook for the crews is not as bright as it was a year ago at this time. It is known that Coach Ten Eyck fears that this season's crew will not be able to keep up the brilliant record which Syrecuse has established at Poughkeepsie.

Syracuse lost five members of her last varsity crew by graduation. Those remaining are Capt. D. A. Davis, 6; L. C. Rice, 5 and W. W. Andrews, 3. These men are candidates for the boat this year, as is Coxswain L. H. Cornwall, who steered the varsity last spring. Ten Eyck, however, has several members of hislast year's junior four and freshman crews his last year's junior four and freshman crews on the squad, and while for the most part these men are not up to the standard of those who graduated, still he hopes to fill out a fair boat. Two of the '09 freshman crew who were counted upon for the year's varsity failed to return.

Of the thirfy-seven freshmen now out for the boat, sixteen weigh more than 165 pounds, while several tip the beam at 190. It is impossible to get any idea of the ability of these men until they have had experience on the while saveral tip abe beam at 190. It is impossible to get any idea of the ability of these men until they have had experience on the water. However, the old man hopes that he will have a strong freshman crew, and his friends in Syracuse believe that he will succeed in building one.

Captain Park, Fullback Stein and Left Guard Cadigan of the football team are all candidates for the varsity boat. It is noticeable that Ten Eyek is paying particular attention to Cadigan, and if the big fellow's work in architecture will permit he may occupy a seat in the boat at Wisconsin and Poughkeepsie. The date for the race at Wisconsin has not yet been decided upon, but it will probably be between May 18 and May 24.

Coach Thomas F. Keane arrived from Boston last Tuesday and took charge of the candidates for the track team immediately. Fifty-five men are reporting daily in this branch of athletics, and Coach Keane and W. C. Lowe, his associate, believe that Syracuse will be fairly represented this year. The stars of the team it is expected will be Capt. Allen, pole vaulter: R. L. Young, sprinter, and M. F. Horr, weight man. The athletic association has just finished the construction of a new board track, swelve laps to the mile, on the old athletic field, which will come in very handy in training for all branches of spring sports.

The revised list of players now includes Edward W. Gardner of Passaic, N. J., the present holder of the championship; Calvin Demarest and Charles F. Conklin, both of the Chicago Athletic Association; Mortimer S. Rolls, Belmont Cricket Club, Philadelphia; De Munn Smith, St. Louis, and J. Ferdinand Poggenburg and Dr. L. L. Mial, both of this city.

Poggenburg and Dr. L. L. Mial, both of this city.

Dr. Mial, who has played in many of the national tournaments, has been practising against George F. Slosson, Gallagher and top class amateurs. He believes that the 14:2 balk line game, at which the championship is decided, can be improved greatly by a new rule making it necessary for two balls to leave the balk line squares on the second shot instead of only one. Dr. Mial has demonstrated his contention by playing interesting and brilliant biHlards by this method.

It had been expected that the amateur "Willie Hoppe" of billiards, the youthful Calvin Demarest, would arrive here this week. He has been suffering from a severe cold and will not arrive until next Flursday. His illness has hurt his practice somewhat.

He has been suffering from a severe cold and will not arrive until next Thursday. His illness has hurt his practice somewhat, although he has been averaging around 15-for 500 points. Conklin, the other Chicagoan, will arrive on Tuesday. He averaged 29 against Wheeler a few days ago.

The Philadelphian, Rolls, has been practising in the Union League Club with averages between 12 and 15. Gardner beat the professional, McLaughlin, 300 to 212, with an average of 13 14-22, and high runs of 96 and 72. Poggenburg yesterday defeated a professional at Daly's academy with an average of 24 for 400 points and a high run of 100 carroms.

The various committees of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players have held a number of meetings in the past week. The series of twenty-one matches will be referred by Edward McLaughlin and all aftermoon matches will begin at 8.30 o'clock, while the night contests will begin at 8.50 o'clock. A new method of lighting the table has been devised, which, it is asserted, will be a considerable improvement. In all respects the most careful preparations are being made so that conditions may be favorable for the establishment of new records.

CAMBRIDGE GETS THE MEET.

COLLEGE GAMES TO BE THERE -VOTE 9 TO 7.

The thirty-second annual meeting of the intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athas to the place of the track and field cham-pionships and as to the establishment of the games. There was a contest on both those regulation giving the executive committee power by unanimous vote to bar any athlete from competition, a sort of rule such as the

Henley stewards have. There were present the following delegates

M. J. Frank, College of the City of New York: Prederico P. Lage, Columbia: Thacher M. Worthen, Dartmouth: J. J. Barry, Fordham: John J. Rowe, Harvard; E. C. Tatnall, Haverford; J. M. Holmes Johns Hopkins: F. J. Suilivan, New York University; S. M. Martin, Pennsylvania; A. B. Waish, Princeton; A. M. Norris, Stevens; E. H. Gidley, Syracuse; R. J. Baker, Swarthmore; L. J. Hinman, Williams, Cyril Sumner, Yale. Amherst, Boston. Brown, Buckaell, Colgate, Georgetown and La-fayette were not represented by delegates. There were also present Gustavus T. Kirby, Columbia, and Thornton Gerrish, Harvard, members of the advisory committee.

In the absence of H. Rawle Geyelin, prestdent of the association, J. P. Payson of New York University, the secretary, called the meeting to order. John J. Bowe of Harvard was chosen chairman. Frederick P. Lage of Columbia read the report of the treasurer. The sum on hand at the close of last year was The association received from Harvard for the intercollegiate games $3,912.91, which after the medals had been paid for, left $3,460.91. A dividend from 50 per cent. of the net receipts was declared in favor of the colleges having ten or more men compet-ing in the games on the basis of mileage.

$417.27. Cornell with twenty-four men voyaging a total of 441 miles, got $761.08. Pennsylvania's nineteen men who made a 324 mile trip, got back $443.20. Dartmouth, sent ten men 150 miles and they got back $108. The balance in hand now is $5,254.42, less by $51.49 than last season. This, it was explained, was due to the dividend and to a gift of $500 to the American team fund for the Olympic games. The report was accepted. The convention then proceeded to vote on various suggestions of the executive committee. The first, that "the annual field meeting shall be held on the afternoon of the Saturday immediately following the last Friday in May in each year," was adopted unanimously.

Then the recommendation came up about the one year rule. It read:

competitor shall be allowed to dig a hole," &c.

Real trouble started over the recommendation that the 1907 games be held at Soldiers' Field, Cambridge. E. C. Tatnall of Haverford said that the climate in Philadelphia was better and that the games were better managed on Franklin Field, so that he favored the latter place. A. B. Walsh of Princeton said that the weather conditions at Cambridge were exceptionally bad and that considering the nature of the track, the field and the weather at Cambridge, he was for Philadelphia.

bridge were exceptionally bad and that considering the nature of the track, the field and the weather at Cambridge, he was for Philadelphia.

R. J. Baker of Swarthmore said that there were no good hotels near the Harvard field, that the place was inconvenient because the hammer throw was held outside the stadium and that for these reasons he liked Franklin Field.

J. Rowe for Harvard said that the weather the day of the intercollegiate games was exceptionally bad and pointed out that on May 4 of last year there was a dual meet with Dartmouth on the field under almost perfect weather conditions. "It wasn't regular Boston weather for the championships, not the kind you might expect," said Rowe. Cyril Sumner of Yale, said that he believed it only fair to give Cambridge another trial and that hethought it would be a greater financial success. Frank C. Chaoman of Cornell said that although Cambridge was further from Ithaca than Philadelphia, he believed that it was on the whole the more convenient place, and that at any event no one could say what the weather would be at any time anywhere. Rowe added that he was sure that everything would be better this vear if Harvard got another chance.

Walsh of Princeton said that he wished it understood that the executive committee had not been; a unit on the recommending of Harvard and that the vote had been three to two in favor. He said that Pennsylvania and Princeton had voted against Cambridge Carnell, Harvard and Yale for it. He asked Rowe to explain if he thought that the Saturday of the intercollegiate games was exceptional if the Saturday before, when Vale met Harvard, was just as bad. Chapman of Cornell and Baker of Swarthmore added their voices again to the argument and figally a vote was taken.

C. C. N. Y. Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard. New York University, Syracuse, Williams and Yale voted for Cambridge. Fordham, Haverford, Johns Hopkins, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Stevens and Swarthmore voted for Franklin Field. That carried it for Cambridge by 9 to 7. It w

E. H. Gidley of Syracuse proposed that Michigan be reinstated and this was seconded by A. M. Norris of Stevens. Gustavus T. Kirby of Columbia briefly spoke on the merits of the case without reflecting blas. Chapman of Cornell opposed the readmission of Michigan on the ground that the Wolverines should like other colleges applying for reinstatement be forced to wait a year after application. Summer of Yale favored Michigan's reinstatement. A vote showed Cornell the only one of the sixteen colleges opposed. Mr. Chapman said afterward that he was instructed that way by his college on the ground only of not hurriedly letting back in a college that had been out once. He said that it was not because Cornell feared Michigan would hurt its chances in the intercollegiate championships at all.

Officers of the association for the coming year were then elected as follows: Presidents, John J. Rowe, Harvard: vice-presidents, Thacher W. Worthen, Dartmouth, and Lewis G. Hinman, Williams: treasurer, C. Eustace Dwyer, Columbia: secretary, George Lunt, New York University: executive committee, S. E. Martin, Pennsylvania, Cyril Summer, Yale: Arthur B. Walsh, Princeton, and Frank C. Chapman, Cornell.

A. M. Norris of Stevens Institute arose to call attention to the fact that Stevens was having a track built after suggestions by James E. Sullivan, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, like the track to be used for the games at the Jamestown Exposition. He said that he would like to have the association bear that in mind when the time came to pick a place for the games next year. "I hope that it will be a bigger success than the C. C. N. Y. track that we were promised last year," said Mir. Kirby, dryly.

The executive committee held a meeting after the convention adjourned and named James E. Sullivan for referee of the next championships and W. G. Graves of Harvard for manag

SHOULD PACERS BE HOPPLED? Action to Bar Records From Year Book

Revives the Debate. A decision to bar from the Year Book all records made by hoppled pacers has brought out a flow of arguments for and against the leg fetters. The opponents claim they are injurious to the horse and its driver and a constant menace to the safety of the other horses and drivers in a race. Its supporters urge the use of hopples as a modern mechani cal boon to steady a shifty horse into a reliable racer. They admit that the ideal pacer is one that goes at speed untrammelled by the device but that the hopple is a necessity for pacers not so natural. Individual cowardice on the part of many race drivers is put forward by them as the mainspring of the anti-hopple movement. The natural horse, despite all that is tolerated on the tracks in gaiting poles, boots, straps and weights, is the sole aim of the high class breeders and owners of the light harness horse. The exclusion of the records made by pacers in fetters, which of all the appliances used alone compel a change of gait, is designed to bring all owners of stallions into line against the hopples.

If a sire's produce will receive no credit in the Year Book the breeders will have a direct reason, where such a spur is needed, to use their influence against hopples. The posiare a contrivance of the track trainers and driver who puts them on a horse cares more for a stallion. But if the bar against such records should lead to the support actively of records should lead to the support activety of the American and National trotting associations the result may make the use of hopples as illegal as doping a horse. As the matter stands the reinsmen seem to be lining up against the breeders, both West and East.

The basis of the discussions is the resolution of the American Trotting Register Association, passed at the annual meeting last month at Chicago. That after the year 1907, records made by trotters or pacers racing in hopples will not be recognized for the Year Book or for registration purposes by this association."

Speaking of the coming boat race between Syracuse and Wisconsin, Samuel H. Cook, Syracuse and Wisconsin, Samuel H. Cook, graduate manager of athletic sports at Syracuse University, said yesterday: "This race was undertaken more in the interest of sport than for any other reason. Out at Wisconsin they have sent many crews East, but they never have had a chance to see their varsity crew in an intercollegiate race at home. We were glad to help them out in that when it was suggested.

In 1905, when we rowed the Argonauts on Onondaga Lake, it was a sprint race, and the men were unable to get back to training for the distance race after being on edge for a shorter pull. The race with Wisconsin will be taken in the natural course of events, and we shall meet the Badgers just as they are, without pointing the crew especially for the race."

DANIELS WINS IN RECORD TIME

NEW YORK SWIMMER BEATS GREAT RIVAL HANDY.

After a Year of Dodging Cracks Meet at 1,000 Yards in N. Y. A. C. Tank -Local Men Secure Eight of Nine Events From Chicago -Close Water Polo Game.

The Chicago A. A. and the New York A. C. in the latter's tank in Central Park South and the event was undeniably the most high class affair of its kind this present indoor season, or any other season for that matter. Nine contests constituted the programme and they were as varied as the merits of ers there were swims of 50 and 100 yards, and a 300 yard four man relay event, each swimmer to swim 50 yards. For the trick swimmer there was a race over hurdles; a fancy diving competition and a plunge for distance, a tilting contest, a 1,000 yard for the Daniels-Handy battle and a water polo game. The New York A. C. captured the honors by a big margin, winning eight firsts out of nine events On the basis of 5 points for first, 3 for second and Chicago 24 points.

By far the most important item of the night was the 1,000 yard contest, and practically the one everybody wanted to see. On it hinged the long drawn out controversy be tween Daniels and Handy as to which was feated the Chicago man in the half mile chamdonship, but after that the Westerner de voted his attention principally to distance swimming. Daniels forsook the long distance and confined his attention to the sprints and the development of his extraordinary erawl stroke. Both made all sorts of records at their respective specialties and their careers grew apace. Several attempts to bring them together were fruitless until the present occasion, when as a sort of a compromise between the sprint and the distance swims the 1,000 yards was agreed upon.

A couple of weeks ago it was reported that Handy was in poor shape, and a letter from the Chicagoan himself was to the effect that Daniels should win the thousand easily. So when they stepped to the edge of the tank last night the blond haired "Danny" was a 100 to 1 shot for the money. After being introduced to the crowd, which was packed like sardines in a box, the swimmers got a like sardines in a box, the swimmers got a rousing reception.

Almost as soon as they touched the water Daniels began to leave Handy, and length after length the New Yorker drew further away. At 200 yards Daniels was in front by a length of the tank—75 feet. It was noticed that Handy, who used the crawl, got little or no beneit from his legs, while Daniels took a long roll from side to side and a good leg drive. Daniels finally won by over one hundred yards in 13 minutes 21 3-5 seconds, beating the best American record by Handy of 14 minutes 4 seconds. Handy's time was 15 minutes 6 seconds. Daniels made a new set of records from 250 yards up. Histime for the quarter was 5 minutes 31 2-5 seconds, and this beat his own record of 5 minutes 47 seconds. At the half mile Daniels bowled over another of Handy's records. He shot by the mark in 11 minutes 44 4-5 seconds, and Handy's former figures were 12 minutes 18 4-5 seconds, made in the tank at Evanston, Ill., about a year ago.

Ill., about a year ago.

In all Daniels created sixteen new records, which are: 250 yards, 2 minutes 58 2-5 seconds 300 yards, 3 minutes 38 seconds; 350 yards, 4 minutes: 194-5 seconds; 400 yards, 4 minutes. 4 minutes 194-5 seconds: 400 yards, 4 minutes 31 2-5 seconds: 500 yards, 6 minutes 21 2-5 seconds: 500 yards, 6 minutes 21 2-5 seconds: 550 yards, 7 minutes 3 2-5 seconds: 600 yards, 7 minutes 46 seconds: 700 yards, 9 minutes 11 3-5 seconds: 750 yards, 9 minutes 55 1-5 seconds: 800 yards, 10 minutes 37 4-5 seconds: 850 yards, 11 minutes 24 4-5 seconds: 850 yards, 11 minutes 44 4-5 seconds: 900 yards, 12 minutes 3 seconds: 950 yards, 13 minutes 21 3-5 seconds: 1,000 yards, 13 minutes 21 3-5 seconds: Daniels also won the 100 yard in fast time, along with doing one of the reliefs in the 300 yard relay.

SHOOTERS MEET FOR TROPHIES

SCHAUFFLER WINS FEBRUARY CUP AT TRAVERS ISLAND.

Lembeck, Adams and Batterson in Three Cornered Tle -O. C. Grinnell, Jr., Captures the Monthly Prize at Bay Ridge -Stephenson Brothers Do Good Work.

Seven events made up the programme sland yesterday. The day was cold, bu he light was good. The final tussle for the February cup had among the competitors only two, Dr. Hamlin and Schauffler, who figured in the tie for the trophy. Both had a handicap of 8 and Schauffler proved the better marksman, as with his allowance he made the full tally of 50, thereby securing

For trophy No. 1 there was a three cornered tie between Lembeck, Adams and Batterson, and in the shootoff the same number of targets were trapped and Lembeck won. Another three cornered tie occurred for trophy No. 2 between Lembeck, Adams and A. H. Pogsen, and in the shootoff the last named proved the victor, and he was again successful for trophy No. 4. Adams won trophics Nos. 3 and 5 and Lembeck won the 50 target race, the last event of the day.

Schedule Includes Games With Crack Teams in Close Proximity. Manager Barry of the Fordham University baseball team announced yesterday his schedule for the coming season. It is one of the best which Fordham has had in recent years, including twenty-nine games from the opening of the season on April 1 to the close on June 8. Eighteen games will be played on the home grounds, one at American League Park, while trips will be taken to Princeton, New Haven, Washington, Phila-delphia, Worcester, Ithaca, West Point and There are several newcomers on the schedule, among them being the Catholic University, Carlisle, University of Pennsylvania,

Notre Dame and the University of Alabama. Two games will be played with Holy Cross and Georgetown instead of three as last year, while the Southerners yield Decoration Day to Columbia. The schedule is especially hard; not only from the number of games and the standing of the teams to be cially hard; not only from the number of games and the standing of the teams to be played, but in several cases from the close proximity of the contests themselves.

Judging from the present outlook, however, the Fordham team will be put up and ready to meet the demands, for the Bronx boys are expected to put into the field this season such another crack team as they had two years ago, Capt. MacDonald has announced that William Keene, Fordham, '03, will coach the Bronx nine this season. Keene was a brilliant player when in college and captained the varsity nine in his senior year. Since that time he has played professional ball, being captain and left fielder of the New London team of the Connecticut League. The schedule follows:

April 1. Catholic University of America at Fordham; 3, St. John's College at Fordham; 4, Bowdoin at Fordham; 6, Princeton at Princeton; 10, Yale at New Haven; 13, Columbia at American League Fark; 17, Villanova at Fordham; 26, George Washington University at Washington; 26, Georgetown at Washington; 28, Niagara at Fordham; 28, Carlisle at Fordham, 27, Georgetown at Fordham, May 1, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; 4, Wesleyan at Middletown; 10, Dartmouth at Fordham, 11, Holy Cross at Worcester; 16, Delaware at Fordham; 17, Concell at Fordham; 22, Cornell at Utica; 25, West Point at West Point; 29, Bucknell at Fordham; June 1, Holy Cross at Fordham; 4, Notre Dame at Fordham; 3, Columbia at Fordham; 4, Notre Dame at Fordham; 6, Lafayette at Easton; 8, University of Alabama at Fordham; 6, Lafayette at Easton; 8, University of Alabama at Fordham; 6, Lafayette at Easton; 8, University of Alabama at Fordham; 6, Lafayette at Easton; 8, University of Alabama at Fordham.

After a debate, in which Cornell headed the active opposition, Michigan was readmitted to the association, Cornell alone of sixteen institutions voting against the Wolverines.

from the colleges named:

Yale had thirty-six men in and they travelled 161 miles, for which they received the one year rule. It read:

No one shall represent any college or university at the annual field meeting until he shall have resided one calendar year at the college or university he represents and shall have attained in the annual examinations on his work during that period a satisfactory standard of scholarship.

This did not go so smoothly. Mr. Baker of Swarthmore said that it would hurt the small colleges immensely, and that he was opposed to it. He said it would hurt their chances of being represented at the championships, and that he believed anyway that it was a matter of home rule and no concern of the general association.

of home rule and no concern of the general association.

Objection along similar lines was made by Haverford and Johns Hopkins. Then Mr. Kirby of Columbia asked if the representatives of these colleges would object to a rule to be made in place of the one suggested giving the executive committee power over all entries. They agreed that they would think it fairer and eventually this rule was passed, the other being dropped.

That the executive committee may by unanimous annual field meeting and may debar any competitor from competition therein.

This was voted for unanimously. Following these the following changes were made almost without discussion:

Every contestant who wins or ties for a first, second, or third place in any event shall be awarded a prize as follows. If one contestant wins a first place he shall be presented with a gold medal, if two contestants tie for first and second place each shall be presented with a medal, one-half of which shall be gold and one-half silver. If three or more contestants tie for first second and third place each shall be presented with a medal, one-third of which shall be gold, one-third silver and one-third bronze.

If one contestant wins a second place he shall be presented with a silver medal. If two or more contestants tie for second and third place each shall be presented with a medal, one-half of which shall be presented with a medal, one-half of which shall be liver and one-half bronze.

If one or more contestants win or the for third place each shall be presented with a bronze medal. All flags awarded by the L. C. A. A. A. A. shall bear the date of the year in which they were won and the number of contestants winning or tying for the same.

Article IV. of the laws of athletics was amended so as to read:

Article IV of the laws of athletics was amended so as to read:
To the end that there be no unnecessary delay each competitor shall take his trial or turn when called upon to so do by the field judge having charge of the contest and if in the opition of such field judge the competitor unreasonably delays to so do, such judge may in his discretion forfeit such trial and have the same tally against the competitor as one miss or failure.

Article XXIV of the laws of athletics was amended by having the word "bar" inserted in place of the word "pole" in the first line after the word "pole vault," so that such line reads: "A line shall be drawn fifteen feet in front of the bar," and the last paragraph of the article was amended by striking out the words "who uses a pole without a spike," so that the paragraph reads "Any competitor shall be allowed to dig a hole," &c.

Real trouble started over the recommendanasium last night. The game was one of the fastest of the season. For Manhattan Donovan played the best game, soering fifteen of their points, and Troutman was Lehigh's star.
